

Using the stations at Sinclair Broadcasting to air the equivalent of propaganda for Bush is irresponsible and it is surprising that it could be contemplated, much less done, in our free country.

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
